Wrought Iron & Decorative Glass
Door & Window Inserts

What A Pane Showroom

Retail Showroom - Open to the public

What A Pane welcome you to our range of decorative glass and wrought iron door inserts. This selection showcases some of our finest designs, featuring hand-made panels, that will surely add elegance and security to your entranceway. Each door insert is carefully manufactured using the finest materials, then precisely sealed and protected with safety tempered glass. Argon gas is then added to improve insulation.

We have strived to produce designs that allow ample light into your hallway, while still providing a high degree of privacy. The designs contained in this brochure have been chosen to provide you, the customer, with a product that you will be proud to cherish for years to come.

Note: Due to printing variations, glass shown in this brochure may not match exactly in colour to the actual product. Slight bubbles, lines, surface imperfections or discolourations are all characteristics of artisan glass, they are never to be considered as defects. As each panel is hand-made, designs may also vary slightly from the photographs shown.

Beresford Blinds

What A Pane's Beresford between-the-glass blinds, are manufactured between two panes of tempered glass, so they're protected from dust, damage and little hands or paws.

They're an ideal solution for doors as they will not get in your way like curtains or venetian blinds do.

Their cordless design makes these blinds safer for homes with children or pets. Because the blinds are sealed between the glass panels, they do not require dusting and no one likes dusting!

You can control the degree of shade or privacy with our lift and tilt mechanism. Ideal for back or garden doors!

Reviews from Google.

We had What A Pane change out our plain glass door inserts for the Zen model of wrought iron and frosted glass. They were quick to respond, quick to come and do the job and efficient in their work.

They were professional and made great suggestions.

The doors look beautiful! We love them and once the builder paints them black in the spring they will look even better!

Catherine - Bowmanville

Thanks to my lovely neighbours, I was connected to What a Pane. With the many options on their website for wrought iron door inserts, I was easily able to pick something modern for our new home. Working with Barry was simple and easy. The customer service was excellent, the install was quick and seamless, and the price could not be beat. Would definitely recommend!

Farah-Markham

'It was indeed a super experience dealing with the gentlemen at What A Pane. Right from the initial visit at their store, to selecting the inserts that we wanted them installing for us.

Their professionalism was amazing. They were courteous, friendly and did the job extremely well.

We love our door (insert & locks) and window (insert). It makes our entrance look absolutely fantastic'.
